TONI DURAN

I'm a public servant at heart. I've always wanted to help people and give my focus to something bigger than myself. In 2009, I began working full-time as a regional field manager for Equality California. I later went on to work a few jobs, including in the Mayor's Office and since 2013, I have served the communities of District 3 as a representative for Toni Atkins in her Assembly and Senate office. I'm currently a representative for Senate President Pro Tempore Toni Atkins' office covering issues related to housing, veterans, women, human trafficking, LGBTQ, and arts and culture. I love this work because it allows me to help the people in my community in ways that matter to them.

STEPHEN WHITBURN

As a Downtown resident, Stephen Whitburn has a stake in its success. He'll create a prosperous post-pandemic San Diego by supporting residents and businesses as we rebuild our economy. He's determined to solve the homelessness crisis, restore tourism, attract quality jobs Downtown, and build more housing.

Downtown needs a proven leader in City Hall. Stephen's 20 years on nonprofit boards, City committees, and community organizations have prepared him to be effective from Day One. Professionally, Stephen was an American Red Cross regional director, led a staff of 20, and balanced multimillion-dollar budgets.

Stephen won the primary in March. He credits his broad support to a collaborative approach and desire to build relationships and solve problems.
